FORGING

FOR NEAR A SCORE OF YEARS THE U.F.A. HAS BEEN FORGING AHEAD.

SOME MISTAKES HAVE BEEN MADE BUT THESE HAVE BEEN ERRORS IN METHOD ONLY—ALWAYS THE OBJECTIVE, CLEAR CUT, WELL-DEFINED HAS BEEN IN VIEW.

URGED ALWAYS BY A NEED ONLY TOO EVIDENT, AND BUILDING ORGANIZED STRENGTH ON ORGANIZED STRENGTH—STEADY, WELL ORDERED PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE.

LOOKING ALWAYS TO THE FUTURE—TO THE BUILDING OF A TRUE DEMOCRACY WHEREIN THE REAL WORKER WILL RECEIVE ADEQUATE RECOMPENSE FOR HIS TOIL—CONSISTENTLY, WITHOUT FALTERING, THE CHAIN HAS BEEN FORGED LINK BY LINK.

THE ORGANIZATION HAS NOW REACHED A POINT WHERE ITS VERY STRENGTH ATTRACTS THE LOYALTY OF MANY MEN, BUT ITS TASK CANNOT BE COMPLETED UNTIL IT HAS THE ACTIVE SUPPORT OF THE RURAL POPULATION 100% STRONG.

IT MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT!

Organized Farmers Arrange Joint Drive

Week of November 1st fixed as date for Campaign in three Western Provinces

According to reports received at this office, the week beginning November 1st will witness the greatest organization campaign ever conducted by the farmers' associations of the West. The campaign is to be carried on at the same time in each one of the three western Provinces under the auspices of the U.F.A., the Saskatchewan Growers' Association and the United Farmers of Manitoba. It is expected that there will be upwards of ten thousand canvassers working under approximately six hundred district captains and forty constituency organizers. These canvassers will personally visit the resident farmers in their respective districts and solicit, from each one, money with which to finance the organization.

Plan of Organization

There is, in each of the three provinces, a Central or Provincial Committee. The plans for this joint drive were arranged through a conference at the "Central Committee" and with the consent of the various constituency boards. The plans are uniform for the three provinces.

Messrs. Herbert Greenfield, W. L. Goss, Red Brier and Sherry Pearson, Nanton, constitute the Central Committee for Alberta. On the recommendation of this committee each of the twelve constituency boards has appointed an organizer who will have full responsibility for organizing the drive for the district.

The constituency organizer—working with the members of the constituency boards—is subdividing all of the territory in the district into units of approximately nine townships each and over each unit or nine township is placing a "District Captain." The district captains are endeavoring to enlist the services of at least one man or woman in each one-half township under their respective jurisdictions—who will agree to personally visit every resident in the district on November 1st or November 2nd and solicit from each one $3.00, this $3.00 will pay for a membership in the Association—a year's subscription to the official organ—and membership dues in the political organization.

A similar membership drive was made in Saskatchewan last October—and in Manitoba in March 1920. In the Saskatchewan drive upward of 2000 canvassers were enlisted and the sum of $82,000.00 was collected. In Manitoba about 1000 canvassers were in the field and over $50,000.00 was secured.

The drive to be held in November has been much more thoroughly organized and it is confidently expected that upwards of 10,000 active canvassers will be enlisted for campaign.

Engine No. 3277 arrived in town from the east last Tuesday with its cow catcher packed with snow. 2 feet of snow is reported from the east of us.

Local Happenings

For a short time last Tuesday the country had a delicate white coat—the first fall of snow.

J. C. Matheson Esq., spent the Thanksgiving holiday at Medicine Hat.

J. H. Galbraith left last Friday evening for Edmonton, at which place he will enter hospital for further treatment. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery and return. Thanks to Mr. Black, manager of the Bank at Vermilion, Gal's journey from here to Provost was made much easier, as Mr. Black drove him up in his McLaughlin 6.

Mr. Barnhill of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce spent Thanksgiving holidays at Wetaskiwin.

The Consort Enterprise reports much activity in the road work in that vicinity. What could you expect.

The young folks class of our Sunday School were entertained to a party in the G. W. V. A. rest room last Monday, by their teacher, Miss Rhoda Cameron. A fine time was enjoyed. There was lemonade, cake bread-n-butter, and all sorts of good things—chickies, neverthing. Oh to be young again.

We regret to report that Mrs. W. Schroer has been very ill this week.

Mr. W. Dore spent a profitable Thanksgiving Day by digging post-holes. He is going to erect a fence around his property. This will make a considerable improvement to the east side of town.

LOST (apparently) the Monitor Board of Trade. With the winter rapidly approaching, and in the unfinished Business of the minutes, appearing items like "The Municipal Hospital," "Better Roads," "Enlarging Stock Yards" we fail to see any reason for this coy and retiring nature of the Board, which is developing an alarming rate.

Take A Look Ahead

Are the people of Canada animated by the same spirit which was so characteristic of them during the war, and which alone made possible the splendid contribution made by this Dominion to the winning of the war? In the dark days between August, 1914, and November, 1918, the national existence of this Dominion was threatened and the liberties of the whole world hung in the balance. Our independence has been maintained and our freedom made secure, thanks to the patriotism and self-sacrificing efforts of the average man and woman. With the removal of the danger that threatened, have we lost that fine enthusiasm for Canada and the Empire which made us willing to bear all things with fortitude that victory might be achieved? In other words, while Canadians were willing to die for Canada, are they now prepared to live for Canada?

These questions force themselves upon our consciences from a consideration of certain grave and serious facts. During the war Canadians sacrificed and saved. They economized and gave without stint in the national cause. There was nothing niggardly in their contributions to the national strength and they withheld nothing, neither their lives nor their worldly means, in the effort put forth to win. For these reasons the period of the Great War will always stand out as a glorious page in Canada's history.

Now that the impelling incentive of the war and the will to victory is removed, has that altogether worthy uplifting out of ourselves died? Or are Canadians as ready now to give of themselves and their means to carry the Dominion forward to the proud position it should occupy among the nations. The war has left heavy national obligations which honor demands shall be met; it has created new problems which must be faced and solved; it has created new conditions calling for the best that each and all can contribute to the nation.

It was imperative during the war that all people should avoid extravagances in living and expenditures, that they economize and through their savings add to the national strength. It is equally important they should now continue to practice these same virtues in order that Canada may develop and prosper. Signs are not lacking, however, pointing to the fact that, unfortunately, many Canadians are not now being governed by the same motives which guided them during the war.

The trade returns clearly indicate that, taken as a whole, the people of Canada are spending too much and producing too little. At a time when Canadians should be buying as little as possible abroad in order to reduce our payments to other countries, the fact remains that we are buying more prodigally than ever before in our history, and that we are not producing for sale abroad anything like what should be produced. The result is, that whereas during the war there was a substantial balance of trade in favor of Canada, the reverse is now true, and there is a heavy and increasing debit balance against this country. As a consequence, we are continuing to suffer the national humiliation and loss of Canadian money being, at a ruinous discount.

At this time when work is plentiful and wages high, it is not only a national duty, but plain commonsense for the individual, to save every dollar he can. This can best be done by cutting out all extravagances, particularly in the purchase of luxuries from abroad. There just inevitably be a recession from present high prices. A time of business depression will come sooner or later, and indications are not lacking that such a time is approaching. The far-seeing financial magnates and keen business men are preparing for it; and it behooves the farmer, workman and average citizen to do likewise.

During the war, and while the work of destruction was in progress, an artificial demand for goods of all kinds was created, especially when millions of men were withdrawn from productive enterprises. Following the war there was feverish activity to make good the losses occasioned by and in the war, and to restore the depleted stocks of goods the world over. The time approaches when this activity must cease because once again supply is overtaking the demand. Then must come reductions in prices and curtailment in work. A period of depression will follow.

This is not pessimism. It is but a frank statement of sound economic truth. It is logical and irresistible. It is supported by all past history and every proven economic law. The wise man will be governed accordingly. Just as during the real estate boom, the far-seeing and wise man unloaded before it was too late and values began to decline, so today such men are not spending all their earnings but are preparing for the day when money will not come quite so readily. Furthermore, such men realize that dollars earned and saved by them now will have a much greater purchasing power when conditions and prices become more normal.

To the extent that Canadians now practice economy, Canada will be strong and able to successfully weather the storm and stress of financial and business depression when it comes.

A Menagerie for the E. P. Ranch

A despatch from London, England, states that the Prince of Wales is collecting big game from Africa, as well as many smaller jungle animals from other countries, including Australia, for experimental purposes, in a small menagerie on his ranch in Alberta. Some of the Australian animals collected on his Australian tour accompanied him on this cruise on the Renown. The Prince plans to ship his collection to Alberta next spring.

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Wed Blacksmith's Daughter.

Announcement of the betrothal of the Hon. Louis Chandon Francis Temple, master of Kinloss, to Miss Katherine Jackson is made in the London Daily Mirror. The former is heir presumptive to the title of Baron of Kinloss, having succeeded his brother, the Hon. Richard George Grenville, who was killed at the front in 1914, and the bride-elect is the daughter of the village blacksmith, whose cottage and forge are just outside the gates of Stowe Park, the Kinloss homestead.

It is a Liver Pill.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parnelec's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

Could Stand a Jolt.

Some years ago a Spaniard named Godinez offered to subject himself to the electric chair in Sing-Sing prison. The offer was refused, but he proved later that he was able to stand a charge far higher than that used in the prison for the purpose of electrocution. At an exhibition before medical scientists, he stood between two electrodes and permitted a constant stream of lightning to pass through his body without suffering any harmful result.

A Belated Discovery.

A New York trade paper says the turning point has been reached in the matter of clothing. For a good many thousands of people the "turning point" was reached long ago. What is troubling them now is that the garment cannot be "turned" again because the other side is just as badly worn and faded.

The Kirriemuir Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Hulie, Thursday Oct. 7th. Committees and plans were formed for the forthcoming Fowl Supper and Bazaar. The Ladies Aid again met at the home of Mrs. E. Morris on Oct. 12th. A visitor of strange visage was present his whiskers were jet black, his eye and mien were fierce. No crime was committed, the wig and scowl removed from the face of A. V. H.—ton.

A very enjoyable time was spent by the Kirriemuir boys and girls at the Parsonage to celebrate baby Cecil's birthday—one year old—Oct. 12th.

Misfortune visited the home of Mr. Sauehuk [Section foreman] and family on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16th. During their absence the C. P. R. house took fire. The townspeople energetically saved practically all their furniture and personal property, for which the family are very grateful. The building was demolished. Mrs. Sauehuk and three children stayed at the Parsonage.

The Welsh Glee Quartette telegraphed "Snowed up at Kelfield, Sask." They will appear the following night Oct. 20th. This bitter disappointment was greatly alleviated by the splendid fowl supper provided by the Ladies Aid. About 150 adults and children enjoyed the repast. Thanks are due to the ladies who gave, cooked and served, and to Mr. Hennessey, who hauled blanks etc. for tables. Total receipts were $41.80.

The School House was packed Sunday evening for the Harvest Thanksgiving Service. The building was tastefully decorated by Miss Inkster, school teacher and children. Rev. A. V. Houghton, pastor preached. Solos were rendered by the noted singers Ruthven McDonald and Francis Alda, from a large Victrola.

The Trail Rangers and C.G. F. T. will meet at 2.30 Saturday afternoon at the S. H. Kirriemuir. We want every boy and girl present.

It was a real live wire elocutionary treat that was doled out to the audience which assembled on Monday evening Oct. 18th to hear Rev. H. Arthur Barton speak in the Big Hall. Being a man of extensive platform experience he was able to render pieces, humorous and tragic, with telling effect. It is to be regretted that more persons were not present to hear his presentation of the up-to-date rendition of the temperance referendum issue. Eloquence and soundness of logic enthused his hearers and swept away so-called anti-plebiscite arguments. It was a treat, a privilege, and an inspiration.

When the black rushes of the moon-lit Eau had his craft, the girl turned homeward on the path again. A tender smile was on her face, and the red blood was dancing in her veins. Her whole young being was alive and calling—calling—or she wondered what!

Where the woodland trail met the creek path a wide sheet of moonlight lay shrouding the dead leaves. When she reached this spot she clasped her hands and raised them to the deep chaotic arch of the skies.

"Boy," she breathed chokingly, "oh, Boy!" Then the long lashes hid her eyes and something splashed upon the dead sheeted leaves. "—Oh God, I mean," she whispered, "take care of him; take care of Boy."

Far down in the dark swales a panther wailed and a loon sent its weird call from the marshlands. A fleeting cloud drifted across the moon and the path darkened. The girl quickened her pace into a run. As she rounded a curve in the path she gave a little cry.

Standing directly in the path was a man.

"Don't be afraid," he said, "it's only me."

"You?" she repeated. "Oh, yes, it's Mr. Simpson. I must hurry on—I must—"

He did not attempt to move aside, and the girl's head went back and her eyes flashed.

"Please let me pass," she said imperiously.

Simpson laughed. "All in good time. But I want to say something first. Won't you listen, Gloss?"

"If it's what you said before, I don't want to hear it," she answered. "You—you must keep me here; it's dangerous—dangerous for you."

"Or you?" he laughed. He came toward her and she recoiled.

Caused Disfigurement. Itchy and Burning. Had Restless Nights.

"My face came out in little pimples that were sore, and I scratched them constantly, and then they turned into scales, causing much disfigurement. It took me so long to get it that I irritated it by scratching. The burning was fierce, and I had many restless nights."

"This trouble lasted about a year before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) W. Byrnes, St. Basile, Que., Nov. 23, 1918.

"You held me once—in your arms," she panted, "and against my will. You mustn't hold me so again. If you do—I'll kill you."

"I'll take the chance," he said hoarsely; "it's worth dying for."

She stood tall and white before him, his hands for her hands, and then something, a new and strange helplessness, overpowered him, and he sank trembling on the moss.

"Mr. Simpson," said the girl quietly, "you must go—for your own sake. You must go now."

"Gloss, oh Gloss!" he murmured brokenly, "how I love you, girl! You cannot know how much I love you."

"No, I can't forgive you, Gloss!" "No, I can't forgive you. I have no power to forgive you. It wasn't me you hurt once—it's not me you would hurt again."

"Don't say that," he cried. "I merely held you in my arms, and kissed you. Yes, I held you in my arms—I kissed you—"

He struggled to his feet, trembling, his hair matted to his brow with perspiration.

"I did kiss you once," he repeated, "and I would give my life tither to undo it or to do it again."

"I looked into your soul—I looked into your soul," she said earnestly, "believe me, you have not."

"You are right," he sighed. "Oh, yes, you are right. But after that other time when I met you on the path I was actuated by a passing fancy—just a passing fancy. I took you in my arms, I looked into your soul—I looked into your soul, and saw what I must forever be banished from, Gloss. Am I not punished? Do you think I can ever forget?"

"I—I don't know. Now, I must go."

He stood aside and let her pass. "Will you forgive?" he asked.

"Will you be strong?" He shivered, but his moving lips gave out no sound.

When the moon trailed down below the tree-fringe of the Point he was still standing where the girl had left him. The panther's howl was still, but away down in the mucky marsh-lands the loon sent his weird cry to the cold stars.

CHAPTER XIV. Paisley Reconnieters.

The early autumn twilight had fallen when Bill Paisley stepped from the wood into the fallow. He dropped the long muzzle-loading rifle into the hollow of his arm and peered down through the gathering dusk toward Totherside.

"Why, there sure is a light at wider Ross's," soliloquized the man. Now, it might be that I'd find out some things we should know if I'd just drop over there casual-like. What I've heard concernin' Watson, and Peeler seein' him and the teacher on the trail together, has aroused my suspicions to the bolin' point. I hope he's at the widder's to-night! I want to 'get to know him better,' as Boy put it."

Paisley leaned against a tree and laughed silently.

"He don't like me very much. I could see that the other night. And I suppose it's natural that I shouldn't think much of him."

He walked on, his feet making not the slightest sound upon the sward that now gleamed gold-brown beneath the moonlight. At the edge of the creek he stepped into a skiff and with one movement of the paddle sent it sweeping into the rushes on the farther shore.

Widow Ross's home was built much after the style of the homes in Bushwhacker's Place. It was long and low and constructed of logs. The chinks between the logs were filled with yellow-blue clay. Paisley approached the place cautiously, once or twice hesitating as if he would draw back. He opened the door gently in response to a loud "come in," and peered about the room as though in search of somebody.

A tall, angular woman, dressed in native homespun, and working a huge spinning-wheel, turned as he entered, and, without taking her pipe from her mouth, said shortly:

"Shut that door, Bill Paisley. And you, Tom, Ross, stop terrifyin' that cat."

A freckle-faced lad of about nine arose from a corner and, administering a last wholesome kick to a sickly looking pussie, came shuffling forward.

"Hello, Bill," he said, "what's new? I heard that you and the rest of the Bushwhackers was actin' balmy with Colonel Halliburton for wantin' to buy your timber. What's the matter?"

"Want to keep our timber to make bows and arrows with," answered Paisley dryly. "How's things at the mill, Tom? Runnin' overtime, I see."

"We're expectin' old Halliburton down soon," said Tom. "I heard the boss say that the Colonel was comin' in with a boat. Says he's goin' to have all your timber before the bay freezes over."

"Yes—He'll get it when Hell freezes over."

"Bill Paisley," frowned the woman, taking her pipe from her mouth, "no swearin'—not here, if you please sir."

"Excuse me, Mrs. Ross," said Bill from behind his hat.

Tom kicked the visitor gently with his bare foot, and Mrs. Ross, resuming her smoke, went on:

I felt quite poorly, was constipated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Pierce's Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling happy and healthy. My baby has been so. I consider 'Pierce's Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9½ pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 367 Dundas St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak, dragged down by weakness of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

"We are feeling the influence of education and refinement since Mr. Simpson has been boardin' here. No home that contains a teacher is a place for proflanity. Mr. Simpson says: 'Perfianity,' says he, 'is the most useless sin of all sins. No gentleman swears.'"

Mrs. Ross snorted and turned her swarthy face toward her visitor.

"Livin' in daily intercourse with an educated young man has its advantages. Look what Mr. Simpson has done for our Tom. Look at him, Bill Paisley, and tell me, don't you see a difference in that boy?"

"I do," said Bill slowly; "I sure do, widder, now you speak about it."

"That young man of education did it," said the widder. "The teacher did it all."

"Great Christopher Columbus! but he's smarter than I thought him,"

Mrs. Ross snorted and turned her swarthy face toward her visitor.

The widder turned her black eyes upon him.

"Cut yours?" she repeated. "What be you talkin' about?"

"Why, my hair," said Bill. "I said I wonder if he'd cut mine, seein' he's made such a good job of Tom's."

Tom tittered and the woman turned her back on the two.

"Scine," she muttered; "bushwhacker swine."

"Where's the teacher to-night?" asked Bill blithely.

"Hish, and Mary Ann—" commenced Tom.

But his mother, turning, quickly advanced upon him, and catching him by the collar with one powerful hand, administered with the other such a cuff that young Tom went spinning to his corner. The mangy cat sneaked over and crept under Paisley's chair.

"And how is Mary Ann?" asked Bill after a time. "Amn't seen her but once or twice for the last month. I suppose she often speaks of me, Mrs. Ross?"

"Indeed she doesn't, then, so you needn't flatter yourself. Mary Ann's got no use for Bushwhacker, let alone a word! One who would make a joke at his own mother's funeral. So, there."

"I made a joke at my mother's funeral it was 'cause I was too young to know better," said Paisley pensively. "My little ma died when I was born. I ought to be worth a whole heap, marm—I was bought at a big price."

INDIAN WITCHCRAFT

The strange experience of O-ge-mas-es when Wus-ke-nings, an Indian sorcerer, casts her evil spell.

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

In the early seventies, being in charge of a Hudson's Bay Post on Lake Manitoba, where poisoning by native Indian medicines was prevalent, evidence was brought before myself and the local missionary, making a serious charge against an old woman named Wus-ke-nings, who, it was claimed, had given poison to one of the tribe whereby he was in danger of losing his life and at that time was lying in a semi-paralysed condition. We considered the evidence justified us in laying the matter before the nearest magistrate, some 60 miles distant, and, if possible, procuring a warrant for her arrest. It was decided that I should go in with the papers. The time was dead of winter and the lake was frozen solidly from shore to shore.

I finally decided to start alone the next evening and being the fortunate possessor of a splendid trail of dogs looked forward to the trip with enjoyment. My dog train, consisting of four, deserves some description. Parf Esquimaux, pure wolf hound, tall, clean limbed animal, their usual gait was some six miles per hour, but if pressed they could easily outrun a horse. Once having passed over a route, the foregoer never swerved from a direct course whether a trail showed or not. Herod, Nefo, Hero and Moro were their names and I loved them with a great love. Kindly natured and devoted to me, still they would attack anything I wished and were as courageous as lions. Often when viewing a wolf or fox on the ice I would let them out of their harness and if far enough from shore they would catch it and kill it before I could reach them. My cariole was, as usual, made from a birch toboggan with buffalo parchment sides and back, lined with fur, on its head a tripod with silver bells. On the collar of each dog were also tripods with bells, and Indian beaded saddle cloths made a very handsome outfit.

Amongst the hangers-on around the Post was a half-breed named James Sinclair who, speaking both English and Cree fluently, was often employed by me as interpreter, my knowledge of the native language being at that time limited. Calling at the office before my departure he appeared to be uneasy in his mind and on my questioning him as to the trouble, he replied by a question: "Is it true, O-ge-mas-es (little clerk), that you are taking in law papers about that Indian witch?" When I replied in the affirmative, he begged me not to go or, if I would, then to take a companion. After some further questioning the truth came out, he stating this woman was in league with bad spirits and that an evil influence would be sent with me or after me if I insisted on going. I naturally made light of this and, in fact, before starting out, had quite forgotten the matter. Evening came on and about 7.30 I whistled for my dogs which were trained to come to their places, hitched up and away we went. For some miles the trail ran through woods and then came the open lake, wind swept and some twenty-five miles of a traverse to a point called the Bluff. While I lay back in my cariole, comfortably wrapped in furs, the miles slipped by until I was about half way across. By this time a few deuce clouds had come up, but the moon, stars and the northern lights made the sky still very light. A feeling suddenly came over me that I was no longer alone. Loth to disturb my comfortable position I lay still for a few minutes until the feeling of a presence became stronger, and on sitting up in my cariole I saw to the left of the foremost dog about three feet above the ice, a ball of phosphorescent light dancing along and keeping pace with the dogs, not more than thirty feet from me. This kept changing in size. At times as large as a football and at others not much bigger than a cricket ball. My first impression was that I was asleep, but rubbing my eyes, and kneeling up for a more careful inspection, I was convinced of the reality of it. Some minutes elapsed, when my attention was drawn to the way my dogs were travelling. Instead of swinging along in their usual free fashion with tail waving, they appeared cowed, and on my speaking to them and endeavoring to draw their attention to this luminous light and setting them on it, for the first time in their lives they paid no attention to me, but simply trotted a little faster. I then tried to stop them (as old dog drivers know, no reins are used, the train being governed and guided by voice alone) by gently calling "whoa! Al-ways they were delighted at this, would look around, stop and gently turn to avoid entanglement in the harness and then lick my face and hands. This time no attention was paid to my call. I was rather afraid they might run away, which would probably mean upsetting of the cariole and being left in the middle of the lake with my uncanny companion. This light, after the lapse of an hour, as nearly as I could judge the time, became more erratic in its movements, making dashes in different directions; coming back quite close to the cariole and then flitting away. It struck me as remarkable, the dogs apparently would not look at it, and yet when it approached us closer I could see the hair bristling on their necks. Finally it began to move to the northeast towards a large bay called the Dog Hung Bay, where a poor white man was found frozen the winter previous; and finally, appearing no larger than a cat's eye in the distance, disappeared.

Reaching the bluff I boiled the kettle and unloosing the dogs fed them a little dried buffalo meat; but they were not companionable, seemed oppressed and would not respond to my caresses. Hitching up again I made my destination at breakfast time and during the course of the meal related my experience with the mysterious light. Finally this was dropped and the conversation turned to the object of my visit. The magistrate, after carefully examining the evidence, submitted to the poisoning, decided to issue a warrant for the detention of Wus-ke-nings, and this I was to take back with me.

After attending to some other business I returned to my post and found that the Indian woman had fled to parts unknown. The same evening James Sinclair called and congratulated me on my safe return from what he evidently considered a dangerous mission. He finally asked: "Did you have a good trip?" On my replying "Yes," he said: "Did you see anything?" and like a flash the thought of the mysterious light came to my mind. I then remembered his former prophecy and told him the facts. He did not appear at all surprised; the light, he stated, was an evil spirit sent by Wus-ke-nings which, if he had followed, nothing more would have been heard of you.

Thinking it all over after Sinclair's departure; his first warning before I started, to the effect that some evil thing would be sent after me; again the extraordinary conduct of my usually fearless dogs and the uncanny appearance of the light which could not have arisen from the same cause as an "ignis fatuus" for there was from three to four feet of solid ice and a foot of snow all over the lake, made it one of the most uncanny experiences of my long residence in Northwest Canada.

I may add the old woman was not heard of again and we burnt her bark tepee with many medicine bags to the great satisfaction of all concerned. The poisoned Indian gradually recovered but never regained his former strength.

Carrying Dangerous Weapons

Local Authorities Should Check the Sale of Firearms.

Ottawa.—There is a law on the statute books to prevent the indiscriminate sale and improper possession of firearms in Canada, but it is doubtful whether that law is being properly enforced.

While protests against the increasing number of revolvers carried by persons in various cities of Canada are reaching Ottawa, officials here point out that there is a law to check the sale and carrying of dangerous weapons, if the provincial, municipal and city authorities wish to enforce it.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I tried to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Drastic Measures May be Taken in Dealing With Ireland

Message from the King

His Majesty is Grateful for the Reception Given the Prince of Wales.

London.—The King has sent the following telegram to governors of Dominions and States visited by the Prince of Wales on his recent Australasian tour.

"On the return home of the Prince of Wales I ask you to express to the people of the Dominion and colonies he visited, my heartfelt appreciation of the universal affection and loyal enthusiasm evinced towards him throughout his travels. These warm-hearted and spontaneous manifestations of regard for our eldest son have deeply touched the Queen and myself.

"We have followed with pride and admiration the triumphant success of his mission and all the more so when we recognized that these happy results are chiefly due to his own personality, to the buoyant and jovial spirit in which he has played his part, to his sense of duty and to the unstinting manner in which he has given of his best.

"This and his previous tour have given him special opportunities to gain knowledge of our overseas Dominions and colonies and to become personally acquainted with their people.

"May such intercourse create friendships of confidence and devotion between the throne and the generations present and future of these great lands and thus promote the unity, strength and prosperity of the empire.

"To my son this wide and happy experience will ever be a priceless possession."

Foster Is Acting Premier.

Ottawa.—During the absence of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from Ottawa, Sir George Foster, as the senior member of the privy council, is acting as Prime Minister.

London.—Leaders of the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland say they regard the speech made at Carnarvon by Premier Lloyd George as "almost a declaration of war on Ireland," says the Dublin correspondent of the London Times.

"There are many signs that the executive department in Dublin intends to bring things to a head as soon as possible by a concentrated campaign against disorder which, by inflicting general hardships on the country, may make crime and lawlessness truly unpopular.

Projected measures are said to include complete stoppage of the Irish railways, drastic reduction of the postal service until all railway workers agree to return to duty and until there is cessation of raids on the mails.

An Exchange telegram reports that the wives of British officers who are serving with their regiments in Ireland, have been directed to proceed to their homes in Great Britain.

It was stated at the War Office that this order had not been issued on this side. It has, therefore, emanated from the Irish command.

The order places the troops in Ireland on absolute active service conditions. It has created a sensation in the country, because the only recent equivalent was the order for women and children to be removed from Mesopotamia.

Prospects for Cheap Sugar.

Toronto. — One hundred and twenty-five carloads of number one granulated sugar, enough to supply the entire city of Toronto for some time, was offered to a local candy-manufacturing concern at 16 cents a pound in Toronto; and was refused. It is stated here that the state of the sugar market in Canada is more shaky than for many years. In some of the stores in Toronto sugar is being sold at 18 1/2 cents a pound.

Canada's New War Vessels

Will Undoubtedly Prove to be Nucleus of Canadian Navy.

"I am much pleased with the vessel which the British Government has given to Canada and consider that they should provide a very efficient nucleus for a Canadian navy," said Capt. Hosc, R.C.N., acting director of naval service, to the Canadian Press. Capt. Hosc has just returned from England where he went to take over the ships from the admiralty, inspect them, and report to the ministry what changes were necessary before they would be ready for service in Canadian waters.

At present, the vessels are undergoing necessary repairs and re-fitting and the actual date of their sailing for Canada is uncertain. Capt. Hosc said that the cruiser Aurora, and the two destroyers, Patriot and Patrician, were all oil-burners, which had given a very satisfactory account of themselves during the war. Although they were not engaged in any battles during the war, they were of the very highest type of their size in the English Channel. The majority of the officers, said Capt. Hosc, would be Canadians, who had seen war service.

This paper has been very fortunate in making exclusive arrangements with Reg. Beatty, of Melfort, Sask., for a weekly article on Indian life. Mr. Beatty has lived for many years in the west, and is the best informed authority on Indian ways and traditions living in Western Canada today. Mr. Beatty writes under the pen name of O-g-e-mas-es, meaning in Cree, "Little Clerk." These articles should prove to be a valuable contribution to our knowledge of a race that is gradually disappearing. The first story appears on another page of this issue.

Prince Impressed With Tour

Remarks on Ties of Sentiment Binding the Different Parts of Empire.

Speaking on landing in England from the battle cruiser, Renown, the Prince of Wales said: "I have visited two great self-governing dominions and British colonies. British institutions are not in the same state of development in all these British lands, but everywhere, without exception, the spirit is the same. I return most deeply touched and impressed by the unity and strength of sentiment which binds all parts of the dominions to the crown and makes the future of the British Empire secure, so firm and clear is this devotion to this ideal and to the King. I am looking forward now to great developments in those dominions, and with these developments, restoration of our credits in the world's markets."

Stuffy Head Cleared Of Catarrh Germs By "Catarrhazone"

To catarrh victims we have just one word of advice—cure it now. The remedy is "Catarrhazone." That it will cure permanently you cannot doubt. Catarrhazone has cured thousands of catarrh victims.

It acts in two ways: First, it destroys the germ—that checks the progress of the disease. Its second action is to heal the sore places the germs caused. Nice to think of breathing little drops of healing to every part of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. It is such absolute thoroughness that makes Catarrhazone so effective in grippe, catarrh and colds. Then by its sedative influence upon the mucous surface it clears away the cough and throat tenderness very quickly. We owe something to a science that has given us Catarrhazone—that wonderful remedy which so surely enables us to permanently cure disease of the breathing apparatus. We all know that stomach dosing is useless, and that surgery in the nose of a treatment is an advance in medical science that everybody can appreciate and value. Complete outfit of Catarrhazone, which is guaranteed to cure any case of catarrh, asthma, bronchial or throat trouble, lasts three months, price $1.00; smaller size, 50¢; trial size, 25¢; sold everywhere.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

Germans Cannot Deliver.

The Argentina Government was notified by a German shipyard concern at Emden, which prior to the war undertook the construction of a 40,000-ton floating dock for Argentina at a cost of $300,000, that the dock was completed, but the shipyard was unable to fulfill its contract to tow it to Buenos Aires, because of lack of shipping facilities. Unless the Argentine Government is willing to provide towards the shipyard share it will be obliged to retain the dock and refund half the cost which Argentina paid on account.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Can Only Find Relief By Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which will shortly leave the victim racked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make. This new blood drives out the poisonous acid and impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behind new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Short Course For Editors.

It is proposed that there shall be an annual short course on journalism at the University of Alberta for the benefit of Alberta newspaper men. If the newspaper men can find the time to attend such a course, it should do them much good. The trouble with the average newspaper man, especially in the daily field, is that he does not have time enough to keep well up with the necessary work of each day, and no time at all for what might be called real cultural study.—Calgary Herald.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, the most effective vermifuge that can be used. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring those healthy conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is the most trustworthy of worm exterminators.
